Battle of Kings Landing Opponents - SWOT analysis

Team Jon/Dani

Strengths

One big ass dragon!
This asset would be most successfully used as a physiological vs a physical weapon. One could reference how Genghis Khan in the 12th/13th century CE used fear to force cities to surrender by demonstrating the consequently of them not doing so.
Use Drogan to destroy Euran's fleet at anchor in Blackwater Bay during night so as to use the cloak of darkness to protect him from effective Scorpion attack.
Also, doing such an attack at night will maximize the visual effect of dragon fire for the "common folk" watching on from Kings Landing.

Weaknesses

Troops - number of and condition
Their forces are tired (as Sansa pointed out) and significantly reduced. This will impact morale and effectiveness.

Opportunities

Time
Cersei has 1m people to feed. Destroy Euran's fleet and you take away the only means of resupplying Kings Landing....the hunger crazed mob in the city will take care of the rest!

Threats

Time
Dani - is already paranoid and that will only get worse with time due to:

1. Jon is now number one Bro, had a better claim to the throne and as Tyrion said "balls do count in Westeros".
2. No Missandei & Jorah (the only people she truly trusts) to advise her.
3. When she finds out about Varys plot (it is predicted he will die), this will only fuel the paranoia fire!

Team Cersei

Strengths

Better Strategist
She started with no money and no allies. Now she has a kick ass fleet, the Iron Bank behind her and a fresh, highly trained professional army in the Golden Company (but admittedly no Elephants).

Weaknesses

Kings Landing
It is fixed (non mobile), non self sufficient location, which can be attacked by a dragon, with (as Tyrion pointed out) 1m people who hate her already.

Opportunities

Time
Dani - is already paranoid and that will only get worse with time. See details above (under Team Dani/Jon - Weaknesses)

Threats

Time
1. Euan must be thinking about how does Tyrion know about the "prince that he put in Cersei's belly".
2. The people of the city.
3. Ayra and Jamie on their missions to stop her.

Likely approach to the battle.

Dani agrees to the siege approach but gives demo of dragons power by lighting up's Euran's fleet at anchor in Blackwater Bay.
Cersei will apply the tactics used by Vercingetorix (leader of the Gaul's - people who lived in France/Belgium in ancient times) at the Battle of Alesia (52 BCE) against Julius Caesar. In this scenario, the Dani/Jon forces will surround Kings Landing but will in turn be surrounded by the Golden Company (who are already outside the city). Therefore Dani/Jon will have a two front battle on their hands. Caesar was able to overcome this situation but Dani/Jon are no Caesar's!
At the same time Arya or Jamie will kill Cersei - so again "the good guys" effectively lose the battle but win the war.

but who should be the winner.....

Cersei - she played the better strategic game.